

5. What are additional ideas or groups this article could have discussed or presented that would help us think about or understand this issue more deeply? What is missing?

How did the boy contract HIV?

How would other residents/students feel about talking/living with him?

8/10 medical experts

The law actually says?

Other cases were decided based on?

6. How does this article connect to the Essential Question?

It connects by being an issue that society has to face ^{handle-solve} and they have a solution that doesn't work for everybody. Using a lawsuit to force the other-side to win or lose doesn't make the perfect solution based on how a side has to lose. If society were to always do this, it would cause many disagreements and soon lead to more forceful negotiations (ie. war)

Excellent point - Is this what you argued in your essay?

So it is a matter of individual rights (vs.) a private institutions rights?
